THE CONSTITUTION.

THROUGH THE CITY.

Small Paragraphs Caught On the Fly By the Constitution Reporters.

COMMISSIONER OF DEEDS.—Yesterday Governor Daniel issued to Mr. Daniel Kelly, of Knoxville, Tenn., a commission as commissioner of deeds for this state, with an office at Knoxville.

GOING TO BIRMINGHAM.—A large party of Pennsylvania capitalists passed through the city yesterday morning on their way to Birmingham, by the Georgia Pacific railroad. It was estimated that they represent a half million of dollars.

THE LUNATIC ASYLUM.—Yesterday a warrant was issued from the executive department to the treasurer of the state lunatic asylum for the sum of $14,583.32. This was required for the support of the asylum for the month of June.

WITH NEW SHIRTS.—Mr. M. Mahoney, commissioner of public works, yesterday supplied the city changing with new, heavy blue working shirts. This will give the convicts a change of garment every week, as the washing is done at the stockade.

A MONSTER CUCUMBER.—Little Miss Edith Stephens, at 55 Jackson street, presented to the Constitution yesterday, with a cucumber ten inches long, thirteen inches in circumference and weighing two pounds and a half. It excited the admiration of all who saw it.

NATIONAL FARMER'S CONGRESS.—Next Wednesday, at Minneapolis, the National Farmer's congress will meet in annual session. Farmers from all the states and territories will be in attendance and the proceedings will be of unusual interest. State Commissioner Henderson has not determined whether or not he can attend, but is anxious to do so.

IN HARD LUCK.—J. W. Peck, who resides at the corner of Fort and Harris streets, and who was severely hurt some time ago by falling in a wagon on Fort street, is having a hard time of it. His daughter is now down with typhoid fever, and he is unable to work. His wife has been up night and day nursing the sick family, and is completely worn out.

DIED LAST NIGHT.—At nine o'clock last night, little Frank Glenn, infant son of Rev. W. F. Glenn, pastor of the First Methodist church, died after a lingering illness of inflammation of the brain. The remains will be taken to Cave Spring, by the East Tennessee road, this afternoon at 5:40 o'clock. The friends of the family will sympathize in their sorrow.

THE ARTILLERY COMPANY.—The uniform committee of the Atlanta Artillery company, composed of the following gentlemen: Messrs. W. C. Phelps, A. J. Brannan, F. L. Haralson, M. B. Torbett, M. T. LaHatte and J. C. Courtney, are requested to meet at the state library, in the state capitol, next Tuesday night, August 24th, at 8 p. m., sharp, as business of importance will be transacted.

SHOT BY A COMPANION.—Frank Calhoun, a colored boy, was shot by a companion while sitting in a swing on East Harris street, near Calhoun, yesterday morning. The ball entered his left arm, between the elbow and shoulder. A small pistol was found near the fence, which was used by the boy who did the shooting. The wound is not considered dangerous. The shooting was accidental.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.—Mrs. T. J. Highwater, whose husband was murdered yesterday, will be buried this morning from her late home in Edgewood. Her six sons will act as pallbearers. She was a truly noble woman, and the heart of many a friend will follow her to the grave this morning. She is a devoted mother and a loving wife, and the sympathy of the entire community is with the sorrowing family in its sad affliction.

CONVENTION OF AGRICULTURAL CHEMISTS.—The national convention of official chemists will assemble at Washington, D. C., next Thursday. All the state agricultural departments will be represented, and a number of other distinguished chemists will be present. Commissioner Henderson has delegated Professor H. C. White, of Athens, chemist of the Georgia agricultural department, to represent this state. The special question for the convention will be the results of recent experiments in the manufacture and application of fertilizers.

EXECUTIVE REWARDS.—Yesterday an executive warrant was issued to H. D. Holland, sheriff of Duval county, Florida, for $100. This was the amount of reward offered for the capture of Asa Whitaker, charged with murder. Sheriff Duval presented the legal proofs that he had captured Whitaker and delivered him to the sheriff of Fulton county. Governor McDaniel has offered a reward of $150 for the arrest and delivery to the officers of the law of Ned Pollard, charged with the killing of Eli Cobb in Columbia county on the 8th of July last.

HE DROPPED DEAD.—Fayette Norton, an old man nearly sixty years of age, dropped dead yesterday morning while at work on a farm at the Berryman place, on Marietta street, just beyond Belt junction. Norton had been complaining of bad health for some time but seemed perfectly well at breakfast. He was a carpenter by trade, and worked on the cotton exposition buildings. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. Jerry Huff, and leaves two young children to mourn his untimely death. An inquest was held in the afternoon and the jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease.

WEALTHY ATLANTIANS.—The Birmingham Chronicle of Friday says: "The following prominent gentlemen from Atlanta spent Saturday and yesterday in the city, and were the guests of Robin Adair: Messrs. Robert H. Richards, president of the Atlanta National Bank; W. Rhode Hill, Eugene Black, Phil Orme and Judge H. B. Tompkins. The party represented $1,000,000, and came for the purpose of investing. They were surprised and delighted, and expressed a purpose of making investment. They did not realize there was so much activity and life in Birmingham." The party has returned to Atlanta.

POSTOFFICE IMPROVEMENTS.—With the view of affording additional facilities of correspondence by mail, the postoffice department at Washington has arranged for the issue of a combined letter sheet and envelope of a pattern which can be readily understood and used. It is styled a "letter sheet envelope," and is of only one denomination—two cents. They will be furnished in separate sheets, and also in pads or tablets of twenty-five, fifty and one hundred. These "letter sheet envelopes" will be issued to a few of the principal first offices for the present, Atlanta being among the number. The public will be notified as soon as they are put on sale here.

SHE IS BITTER.—Palline Alford, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Alford, who was kicked by the mule day before yesterday afternoon, was considerably better yesterday morning. It appears that the child was walking in an alley near the corner of Tomlin and Marietta streets, when she encountered a drove of mules belonging to Golden, the blacksmith. The little girl tried to pass the mules, when one of them kicked at her and struck her on the forehead, between the eyes. It was found that the child's skull had been fractured, and her injuries so serious that her life was at first despaired of. Her parents live at 24 Marietta street.

Important Invention—Cotton Seed.—Captain Hugh H. Colquhoun, of this city, has patented in the United States patent office a process for utilizing cotton seed. By this process any farmer or grower can turn the cotton seed, after it comes from the gin, by combining with chemical agents, into a high grade standard Georgia guano. This guano contains only the fertilizer which is in the seed, and is sold in Georgia. It will equal any fertilizer that is sold in Georgia in its results on the farm. The machinery is cheap, and every grower can have a strong cotton seed to push the sales of his machinery in the southern states. The process reduces the cost of the manufactured fertilizers very largely.

CAPTAIN WHACK BAILEY.

He Takes a Lesson in Drilling and Will Give a Banquet to Reporters.

Whack Bailey is in town. He reached Atlanta yesterday and is on his way to Mexico. His company, however, is not with him.

Soon after reaching Atlanta, Whack Bailey went up to the Gate City Guard armory and, laying down a quarter, said to the janitor: "Give me a quarter's worth of drill."

"A quarter's worth of what?" asked the janitor in surprise.

"Drill, drill, man. Give me a quarter's worth of drill. Show me how to right shoulder-shift, carry-arms. A gun. Understand?"

The janitor looked at the military enthusiast a minute with wide open eyes, and then asked:

"Who is you, any how?"

"Who am I? Gracious man, don't you know me? Why, I thought every body knew me. Why, I'm Whack Bailey, Captain Whack Bailey of the army that's going to clean up Mexico."

"You is?"

"Yes, I is, and I want you to show me how to handle a gun, so I can drill my men. Understand?"

"Oh, you wants me to drill you?"

"That's the size of it."

"All right. Here goes."

The janitor took down a gun and handed it to Captain Whack, and planted himself in front.

"Now, when I give a command I'll go through it with this gun and you follow sample."

"All right, go ahead. Give me a big quarter's worth."

The instructor gave the commands and went through the drill. Captain Whack followed every command. The instructor found him a good pupil and kept going until he was perfectly well up on Captain Whack's face. Then the captain got tired and stopped. The instructor wanted to go on but the pupil said:

"I'm tired, I'm tired. I believe I can teach my company all that I have learned here that I will be able to whip not only Mexico but the world."

"Yes, didn't you say you wanted a quarter's worth?"

"No, but I only give you a dime's worth. Get the gun again and I'll give you the balance."

"No, thank you. No more for me. You can keep the fifty cents. No, I just thought—give it to me, and I'll give these damned newspaper reporters a banquet with it."

PROFESSOR LEON

Will Make Room For His Wife and Her Singer Machine.

Eighty feet up in the air! That is where Mrs. Leon will be found operating on a Singer sewing machine next Friday afternoon at Grant park. This feat will eclipse anything ever attempted in the line of tight-rope walking, and will be witnessed by anywhere from ten to fifteen thousand people.

Professor Leon has given his word that his wife will actually make the ascension, and in mid air operate on her favorite sewing machine—the world renowned Singer—and it follows, as a matter of course, that the startling exhibition will be carried out to the letter.

Eighty feet above Atlanta and its wondering inhabitants, Mrs. Leon will take her seat at her Singer machine, and with much ease and composure as if her parlor floor, and not an inch and a half of rope, supported her, proceed to tuck, run, draw, and quilt, embroider and do everything else that can be done on a Singer sewing machine, and it can do most everything but talk.

The professor will do the talking. Next to rope walking, that is his strongest point. Mrs. Leon, who is a sewing machine expert, says the improved Singer is the best family machine in the world and the easiest to sew upon. It is certain that on next Friday the Singer will be on the top of the machine that will be used on the occasion is now on exhibition at the Singer office, 59 Whitehall street. The performance will commence at 3:30 p. m., Friday, 27th instant, and the town will turn out "en masse."

JUDGE NEWMAN

Takes the Oath of Office Before United States Commissioner Buck.

Yesterday Captain W. T. Newman, who was recently appointed judge of the United States district court for the northern district of Georgia, returned from Haywood, spring, North Carolina, where he has been with his family for two weeks past.

Captain Newman was congratulated by many friends in Atlanta on his appointment. At five o'clock yesterday afternoon the regular oath of office was administered to him in his office, by Colonel A. E. Buck, clerk of the United States courts, who, as United States Commissioner, was authorized to perform that duty.

Judge Newman will return to Haywood springs tomorrow and may remain there two or three weeks, yet. The next regular term of the district court, over which he is to preside, will meet the first week in October.

Home Seekers' Excursion.

POULTRY AND BENCH SHOW.

Plans for an Interesting Exhibition in Atlanta Next January.

Last May a number of gentlemen of this city organized themselves into an association under the name of the National Poultry and Bench club. Their object is to secure for Atlanta an annual exhibition of fine poultry, thorough bred dogs, and pet stock generally. They are encouraged by the results of the efforts already made and are confident that their organization will result in a permanent and useful institution.

Their first show will be held in this city next January. Already an extensive correspondence has developed the fact that the organization has attracted attention among breeders of poultry and dogs in other states.

One prominent firm in Virginia writes that it will send a car load of their finest chickens to the January show. Numerous communications have been received from breeders of fine dog making inquiries as to the time and conditions of the exhibit. Enough has already been developed to insure the success of the first show of the club.

Atlanta to Australia.

"What about shipping your goods to Australia?" asked a Constitution reporter at the Swift Specialty company laboratory on yesterday.

"Well, we have an order for thirty gross from a house at Sydney, New South Wales," was the reply.

"We have never done a dollar of advertising there, and presume the demand was treated by the American papers. New South Wales imposes no duty on our goods, hence we can go easily. This order induces us to begin work in that colony, and we shall advertise well."

"Well, the freight by rail is about the same as it is from Atlanta to San Francisco, and it goes through in about two months. S. S. is getting over the whole world. It is sold largely in South America, and recently quite a lot of it was sent to China, and a few days ago we had an inquiry from Italy."

A Remarkable Case.

"Here is a letter," said Dr. Rankin, "from Mr. C. A. Bailey, of 177 Blackstone street, Boston, Mass., which you can read. The letter is dated August 16th, and states that his wife had been afflicted for twelve years past with some form of insanity."

and that her case had been pronounced incurable by many physicians in Europe and America. She was confined to her bed for years, during which time her condition was such that it required from three to four pounds of salve a week to dress her sores. She commenced using S. S. S. about two years ago, and in a perfectly sane and sane manner. He will next week write out a full statement of this wonderful recovery and publish it in the Boston Herald."

"It would seem from this that S. S. S. would cure any disorder of the blood or skin."

The Constitution Job Office has just received two hundred thousand Letter and Note Heads and is prepared to print same at prices that defy competition.

JOHN KELLY.

"The Leader of Low Prices."

His dry goods market north must surely be perfectly "out of his," from the character of the "bargains" which this high type of merchant is now selling. It is a matter of remark that John Kelly never descends to anything "small" in his methods of trade. His "brands" are all genuine.

He never fancies of upon you a thing for what it is worth. Even now, at the low prices at which he is selling goods, every "brand" is reliable. You would carry home. He has just opened an immense line of new fall dress goods, black cashmere, and very choice dark calicoes, and in fact all the same time of clothing without regard to value his stock of summer goods. Never let his store attract (at this season of the year) so large a patronage. Never before has he had (at this season of the year) so many attractions to offer you. His paradise, dress goods, fine white muslins, etc., are marvels of beauty, and his stock of shoes—well, Kelly's shoes are a household word in Georgia.

The Great Mississippi.

Messrs. Woolper & Craft, the well-known cigar manufacturers, 50 and 52 Gravier street, New Orleans, have put on the market a cigar which is called, by special permission of Ex-President Jefferson Davis, "The Great Mississippi." The remarkable success of this justly renowned brand is owing to the fact that it is well worth of the reputation which it has acquired. When you get better goods made by expert Spanish workmen.

ARP AT HOME.

AFTER A FEW WEEKS' VISIT TO HIS FRIENDS.

The Attraction That Always Makes a Man Happy to See the Old Homestead—An Account of His Visit to Anderson, South Carolina—A Beautiful Town and Good People.

The love of home is not an art nor an accomplishment. It does not come from early training or education. It is the instinct of humanity. It is the gift of God. It is a pure emotion and brings joy and comfort to the humble and the great. "Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home." No wonder that the simple song of John Howard Payne endeared him to the world. The world felt its touching, tender truth and wept a sympathetic tear. It is the want of a home that makes tramps and vagabonds and desperate men. Sometimes I think the nation could well afford to give every father and mother a home. Besides the love of those who are dear to us there is something in the locality that affects us—something in the familiar scenes, the trees, the fields, the branches, the running spring, or the generous well. We love the trees and vines that have borne us fruit or given us shade, the open place that gives us welcome on a winter night; the bed that gives us rest and sleep, and the ever pleasing prospect of the distant hills and mountains that seem as if reaching up to God. Even the birds and birds are conscious of this love of home. "The loving bird slowly o'er the leaf," as they seek their accustomed place. The faithful dog will travel miles and leagues to reach his home and can not be easily weaned from the chimney corner. Man has made use of this never-failing, never-ceasing love of the carrier pigeon, and it commands our respect and admiration when we see it released from its prison in a distant land and watch it ascend and circle and take its bearings, and then with swift and tireless wing make for its home by the nearest line.

We are home now again and are happy. It is very pleasant to make a little visit off among our friends but there is always something left behind that like a magnet draws us back again. When we go away our daily habits are broken up or restrained. It was very kind and very sincere in Colonel Crayton to say, "Now major, you must make yourself perfectly at home, but how could I and be respectful. I couldn't take off my coat and rest my feet upon the railing. I couldn't stretch myself upon the sofa for an evening nap. Carl and Jessie were not there to follow me around and make me do their bidding. My dog was not there to wag his tail. The affection we have for even the inanimate things about our homes is a part of nature and is stronger than we imagine. A good old mother, who now lives in Home, removed from Cedar town to Arkansas about thirty years ago. Her husband sold his furniture to the sailors, for he could not move his great distance. A few weeks ago she made a visit to them and found at one house the sofa—the same old sofa—and at another the bedstead and at another the table—the dear little mahogany table that she sewed by and her lamp was upon it every night as she read her evening chapter in the Bible. She told me once in her own sweet way, and said:

"I had a good visit and my heart was full all the time. I stayed among them two weeks, which was longer than I intended, but they were so glad to see me and were so kind I didn't want to come away. I almost cried when I saw those dear old things we had to sell and leave them behind us when we went west, for I felt like they had been our friends in happier days when my husband was alive and I was not old and tired and had not seen much trouble."

I had a good time at Anderson. Of course I did, for Anderson is in South Carolina. It is a beautiful town and is full of good people. The Calhouns and Porrys and Orms and other noble men left their mark upon that region. It is

A JERSEY SALE

To Occur in Atlanta on the Twentieth of October.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Georgia Jersey breeders association was held yesterday in the room of the agricultural department. There were present John John I. Hopkins, president of the association, Messrs. Richard Peters, James H.
W. Butler, Woodward, and S. B. Phelps.
The object of the meeting was to set the time and make preliminary arrangements for a sale of Jersey cattle in this city during the coming fall. After consultation it was determined to have the sale in Atlanta on the 20th of October.

It is thought that a larger number of Jersey's will be offered at this sale than there was at the spring sale, when sixty animals were sold. Under the rules of the association no animal will be put up for sale unless it has been bred in Georgia or has been there two years, so as to have become fully acclimated. A committee will be appointed for the purpose of making a thorough examination of all the entries before the sale occurs, and none will be offered that are not perfectly sound. At the same time the Jersey will go for just what is offered, without the stimulus of any bidding.

One large Jersey breeder near Atlanta will have twenty entries. The association has members in all parts of the state who will contribute to the sale, and it will not be surprising to see one hundred Jerseys put up for sale in Atlanta on the 20th of next October.

Catalogues for the sale will probably be out by September 10th.

THE MILLIKEN-GALLUCHAT CASE.

Galluchat Acquitted of Assault and Battery

Several weeks ago a sensational case was created in Atlanta by a street difficulty between Mr. M.
C. Galluchat and Mr. C. Milliken. Both were previously employed by the Meridian Mill Co.
The men had been on good terms, as each suspected the other of having stolen property from the service of the company. At last, Mr. Gal-luchat was informed by the company that his services were no longer required. A few days after this he met Mr. Milliken and made a vigorous attack on him with a whip. A struggle ensued in which the whip was wrested from Galluchat by Milliken. Galluchat drew a pistol and about that time outside parties interfered. Galluchat was then arrested by police and two indictments were found against him, one for assault and battery and the other for carrying a dangerous weapon. At the time of the difficulty Galluchat stated that he had used the whip because he had been insulted. Some slanderous reports concerning him.

Yesterday the case was tried in the city court and occupied the entire day. On the indictment for assault and battery a number of witnesses were introduced for both sides. Galluchat in making his statement to the jury related his charge that Milliken had slandered him and said that he had made the attack because he had been insulted. A few days after this he met Mr. Milliken and made a vigorous attack on him with a whip. A struggle ensued in which the whip was wrested from Galluchat by Milliken. Galluchat drew a pistol and about that time outside parties interfered. Galluchat was then arrested by police
and two indictments were found against him, one for assault and battery and the other for carrying a dangerous weapon. At the time of the difficulty Galluchat stated that he had used the whip because he had been insulted. Some slanderous reports concerning him.

"Not guilty," asked Judge Van Epps in a tone of surprise. "Do you say your verdict is not guilty?" The jury then said it was not his custom to primarily defend, but he could not refrain from expressing his surprise at this verdict. He said he would take the liberty of remarking that it was in conflict with the evidence, the law and the charge of the court.

Mr. Galluchat entered a plea of guilty to the charge of carrying a dangerous weapon, and for that reason was sentenced to the penitentiary.
Mr. Milliken is still in the employ of the Meridian mill company. One of his arms is deformed.

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head
If indigestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear.
These disorders react upon the brain most harmfully, and produce a cloudiness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily these brain depressing maladies are entirely dispelled by that peerless alternative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulates the organs of digestion, assimilation and bilious secretion.
It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exerts a powerful invigorating influence as well. Its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep-promoter, the Bitters is unrivaled; it mitigates the infirmities of age, relieves the sluggishness peculiar to the genital organs, prevents premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique.

Another Batch of Useful Information Picked Up in the Business World—The Wonderful Accomplishments of a Rock-Drilling Invention.

From the New York World.

I paid a visit to the new aqueduct tunnel the other day, and, by special permission, was allowed to inspect the work at different points. I was not there, thank you, from any political motives. I doubtless have my faults, but meddling with politics is not one of them. My interest in this mighty work of modern engineering was simply that of an ordinarily intelligent citizen. What struck me with especial force was the rapidity and comparative ease with which rock tunneling is done at the present day. Here, for example, is an enormous subterranean passage, which will be when completed thirty-three and a quarter miles in length and will have a maximum water flowing capacity of 320,000 gallons a day, and this great tunnel, which is excavated through strata varying from fifty to three hundred and eighty feet in length, is being excavated for nearly its entire depth through solid rock.
How could such a work have been even dreamed of in the days of the old-fashioned hand drill. At well might a swarm of beetles or an army of ground moles attempt to nibble their way through the Egyptian pyramids as for any number of men, armed simply with hand drills and hammers, to undertake the construction of a tunnel like this.
What was required was the use of the most perfect and efficient power rock drills, air compressors, boilers, hoisting engines and pumps. At the interference of the work the contractors and engineers made a most thorough and exhaustive examination of the various appliances in the market, which resulted in equipping the greater portion of the tunnel with the celebrated Ingersoll Rock Drills and Straight Line Air compressors, boilers, hoisting engines and pumps. By the Ingersoll Rock Drills company, 10 Park Place, New York City. At the present time the work is being done at the rate of forty feet of the tunnel in a day. The work is being done by compressed air, supplied from these compressors.

Have you ever seen these drills work? They have always seemed to me like human machines.
The men who operate them are called "drillers."
The men who plug the great steel points into rocks below the surface of turbulent streams. They are called "drillers" because they drill. The Ingersoll Rock Drills have been used in the aqueduct tunnel the Ingersoll drills have been peculiarly effective, and, as usual, have outrivalled all competitors. The following comparative table of average monthly progress for the four months ending February 27, 1886, will prove the satisfaction of all persons who know anything of rock work the eminent superiority of the Ingersoll drill.

The best single heading with Rand drills exclusively (9 North) averages. 158 5 feet

Average monthly progress for four months on the entire line (forty-five headings worked continuously) 142 6 feet

To put the matter in a way which will be more readily appreciated by the public, I may state that with this kind of machinery the distance of 85 feet has been driven in one week and 235 feet in twenty-two days through the hardest kind of rock, the kind of the excavation is 12 feet wide and 15 feet high. When the work was started Ingersoll drills were adopted. In twenty-one headings they were used in forty-two headings out of forty-seven in actual progress to the Harlem river.

I know from personal observation that the Ingersoll machines are extensively used throughout the mines, quarries and in all rock work of magnitude on the continent, and have been extensively introduced in Europe, Australia and India.

These machines are run in underground work, by styles of machinery adapted to all kinds of rock excavation, whether it be for drilling holes for mining, or for the purpose of discharging water from buildings, and an examination of these appliances will well repay all people engaged in rock work.

These drills and machinery can be seen at No. 65
South Broad street, Atlanta, Ga., where Messrs. Joe Nix and H. D. Bell, the agents for the Ingersoll Rock Drill company for this territory, have their warehouse. They will be glad to show them to the public.

ATLANTA POMOLOGISTS.

A Fine Display of Fruits Yesterday—Lecture on Grape Culture.

Every Saturday morning for several months past a group of gentlemen have been found seated around a long table in the rooms of the state agricultural department. The table is at every meeting covered with the choicest specimens of seasonal fruits, and an hour or two is spent in the examination and discussion of the exhibits.

This is the work of the Atlanta Pomological society, an institution which for several years has been engaged in encouraging and improving fruit culture in this city and the surrounding country. The regular weekly meeting yesterday was well attended, and was even more interesting than usual.

While there was a large and varied exhibit of peaches, apples, pears, plums, melons and other fruits, the chief attraction was the beautiful display of grapes, the fruit which is just now pre-eminent in season.

The best vineyards of Atlanta and Fulton county presented luscious specimens, which were exhibited with pardonable pride by their cultivators. The extent and quality of grape culture have rapidly improved in this vicinity within the past few years, and this result is largely due to the efforts of the pomological society.

Dr. S. H. Hays, one of the most successful grape cultivators in the state, delivered an instructive lecture on cross fertilization of grapes, which he illustrated with seven drawings of the flowers and petals of the grape.

Mr. W. J. Jones exhibited a queer looking bug, which is playing the mischief with grapes in certain quarters just now. It was given into the keeping of the entomologist of the agricultural department for a study of its habits.

Mr. J. C. Bucher was requested to prepare for the first meeting in September a paper on the subject: "What varieties can be crossed so as to produce the best results."

WASHINGTON SEMINARY.
A School that is Unsurpassed in the South.

Among the institutions of the city that should be regarded with pride is the Washington seminary. It is one of the best institutions of learning in the South, and its position of faculty and situation cannot be surpassed. It is no surprise that the school should have succeeded, with such a faculty as Mrs. Stewart to guide it through the various departments of learning.

Mr. F. C. Mallon, who has charge of the departments of literature, elocution and science, has been a most successful educator in the South. In fact, the Washington seminary has excellent teachers in every department. Special attention is paid to music, art, literature, science and elocution, and anyone having children to educate may rest assured that no better school can be found anywhere. In the primary department special attention is paid to the training of the young pupils, and on this account great progress is made. It is, in fact, a school worthy of fine patronage.
